ALBERT ARNOLD SPRAGUE

At the regular meeting of the Board of Managers of the Presbyterian Hospital of the City of Chicago, held on the 21st day of January, 1915, the following resolution was unanimously adopted:

"The managers of the Presbyterian Hospital are again called upon to record the death of one of their beloved associates—Albert Arnold Sprague. For many years he has been a devoted friend of the Hospital, which he served faithfully in many ways. Mr. Sprague was one of the best-known citizens of Chicago, where he has made his home for more than fifty years. He was not only one of its leading merchants, but was noted also as one devoted at all times to the higher life of the community, to the advancement of which he gave generously of his time and energy. As a merchant, he was broadminded and farseeing, and won for himself an enviable reputation for sagacity and integrity.

He was a quiet, unassuming man, but sane and courageous, ever holding to his high ideals of civic, commercial and personal honor. He was a lover of the arts, of literature, music and painting, and was interested in fostering them even to the end of his life. He was a steadfast, courteous, courageous and wise companion and will be sadly missed in our counsels, both as a member of this Board and as the genial friend of all its members."

REPORT OF THE PRESIDENT OF THE PRESBYTERIAN HOSPITAL

To the Members of the Society, the Churches and all our other Friends:

The past year has been a busy one for the hospital and all connected with it. It would be difficult to find anyone who has not been affected in some degree by the savage war which has been the great event, not only of the year, but in many particulars of the entire history of the world up to the present time. Certainly every hospital felt its effect promptly and acutely. Immediately after its commencement prices of many drugs and surgical supplies advanced enormously, and many articles were impossible to obtain. Germany had become headquarters for the manufacture of a large number of drugs and surgical appliances, and the supply was shut off, and stocks in this country bid fair to be soon exhausted. No one could foretell the duration of the war, and it was difficult to judge how far we were warranted in going, in the purchase of supplies in anticipation of its long continuance. There were not wanting those who believed that three months would see the end of the struggle, and it was a shock to most of the world when General Kitchener gave it as his opinion that it would continue for three years. We bought as freely as we dared before any material advance had occurred, of all such medical and surgical supplies as we determined would be difficult to obtain. In these purchases we were very fortunate, and we have not yet exhausted our stock. In addition, many food supplies began to advance, and of these we purchased as freely as seemed wise. It was also evident that rigid economy must be practiced in every department. Meetings were held with all the members of the staff, the situation was fully explained and co-operation requested. It is a pleasure to record that the staff responded in the most hearty manner. Certain drugs were taken off and other substituted in their place, all suggestions for economy in the use of supplies were at once adopted, and in every way the staff gave its loyal support. All outside special nurses on duty in the hospital were shown the necessity for rigid economy, and definite rules for their guidance adopted. Our own nurses were instructed continuously in the same manner. All employees were also taken into our confidence, especially all the kitchen force. One and all manifested the most lively interest in the situation, and then and since have worked faithfully and successfully to attain the results desired.

Too much praise cannot be given to staff, nurses and employes for their prompt response to our requests, and the spirit with which they labored for our welfare. And that is the reason why we have been able to go through the year as satisfactorily financially as the year before, and to show at the end a balance on the right side of the ledger.

Our service has again exceeded that of any previous year. Daily for many months we have been unable to receive those who desire to come to us, and have had a long waiting list of those who could be put off temporarily. We have received 7,698 people, a gain over the preceding year of 460, which itself was far beyond any other year before.

The low death rate of the previous four years (including all emergency cases) has been sustained. The rate for the year has been 2.8 per cent.

Our standards of service have been maintained and improved. A noticeable advance is the opportunity for senior medical students to serve in the wards as clinical clerks; a plan which has been adopted by many teaching hospitals. Each one has four patients whom he can watch under the supervision of the Resident Staff, can follow the treatments and the course prescribed by the attending man of the service. If any patient has any objection to the presence of the student, the latter is not allowed to take his case. But up to the present there has been no such objection. The students are also allowed to do certain laboratory work in connection with their cases, and this relieves the internes of such routine work, and enables them to do more research investigation. As far as it has gone, the results of the experiment seem advantageous to patient, student, interne and attending staff.

The first year of operation of the new Nurses' Home has proved its necessity and efficacy. The cost of carrying it on shows a material advance over that of the old home, but no greater than was expected and prepared for. Its advantages in the comfort of our pupils, in facilities for their technical instruction, and for their general welfare, have proved to be all that was hoped for, and fully warrant the effort that was made for its erection. Both the fall and spring classes, have been larger than ever before, and we have been able to make selection from a large number of applicants, thus giving us a higher type of pupils. There are at present 176 nurses in the Home, of whom 153 are pupils, the balance being head nurses and assistants to Miss McMillan. This is the full capacity of the Home, and we could use more space to advantage. In this, as in so many other ways, it seems impossible for us to keep in advance of the steady growth of the hospital.

It has become tiresome to state in each annual report that there has been no opportunity to check the increasing cost of administration. The past year has been no exception. Higher standards and increased facilities require additional outlay. Higher costs of many articles already mentioned have contributed materially to the total increase. The only comfort in this situation is that the increased welfare of our patients has kept pace with the increased cost.

A great loss has come to us the past year in the death of Mr. Albert A.

Sprague. A member of the Board since 1891, he served the hospital faithfully and with great interest. Its work and its welfare lay close to his heart. He was a wise counselor, and his thoughtful consideration and genial presence will long be remembered and greatly missed at the meetings of the Board of Managers.

During the year we have received the following amounts, which have been added to our Endowment Fund:

Nelson B. Holden Estate .....	$ 296.60
Mary M. Byrne Room Fund .....	700.00
Estate of Edward Morris .....	5,000.00
"E. H. B." Fund .....	2,000.00
Ministers' and Missionaries' Room Fund .....	5,000.00
Mary Jane Willing Fund .....	5,000.00
Estate Albert A. Sprague, on account.....	32,200.00
Woman's Auxiliary Board Proceeds of Tag Day.....	1,510.01

The following bequest was made by will:

Albert A. Sprague .....	$50,000.00
-------------------------	-------------

We have received from the executors of the estate of Thos. Murdoch $78,148.63, which has been added to the Thos. Murdoch Endowment Fund.

Attention is called to the report of the Woman's Auxiliary Board. The work of this Board continues to grow in importance and benefit.

The Social Service work has been of increasing value. We need more funds to enlarge its scope and efficiency.

The Out-Maternity Service has increased and overtaxes the strength of Miss Cooper, who has it in charge. She sadly needs an assistant, but we have no money for it. Total number of cases, 609. The list of nationalities seems of interest:

Austrian .....	189	Greek .....	3
French .....	3	Irish .....	24
Armenian .....	1	Negro .....	11
German .....	37	Roumanian .....	3
Spanish .....	1	Syrian .....	1
Russian .....	105	English .....	1
Italian .....	75	Scotch .....	2
Scandinavian .....	11	Turk .....	1
American (native) .....	141

Among many gifts to the hospital, a notable one is that of Madame McCormick, of an electric cardiographic machine. The first one given by her proved to be so satisfactory in its work, that she desired to replace it with a machine of latest construction and enlarged capacity, and this will soon be installed. All the floors of the hospital will be wired to the room in which the machine is situated, and patients can thus be examined on every floor. The machine records the action of the heart and photographs it on prepared paper chart. It is of great advantage in heart cases as well as in typhoid, pneumonia, and all the diseases in which the action of the heart needs to be carefully considered. One of our staff remarked recently: "I have learned more about hearts in the past year than in all other years of my practice put together."

The year closes with a credit balance.

Notwithstanding unfavorable financial conditions, and the heavy demand from so many sources for unusual assistance, our generous friends have not forgotten us, and their yearly gifts have been well kept up. This we acknowledge with very sincere appreciation.

To medical staff, house staff, superintendent and employes; to the principal of the School for Nurses and her pupils, all of whom have worked together so loyally, wisely and generously, we express our thanks and appreciation. The success of the year's work is due entirely to them.

Each succeeding year brings more demand on us for facilities for research work, and enlists the most active interest of our medical staff.

In the words of Dr. Faunce of Brown University:

"Devotion to research is one of the deepest and purest passions of the human spirit. It is without hope of gain, without fear of consequence, without count of cost."

What are the ideals of the hospital? What does it stand for? What ground has it for its appeal to the public for help? Christian charity—to care for the sick and poor, for those who have no one to care for them; to cure their sick bodies if possible and help them to recover their ability to get out into the world and help themselves. To cultivate such a spirit among all connected with the hospital, that when anyone enters our doors he will feel that he is among friends who are anxious to serve and help him. To remove as far as possible from all institutional feeling, and promote the personal touch to all our patients. To develop and furnish the highest standard of medical and surgical service and nursing. To teach doctors, students and nurses and furnish proper facilities for their education. To encourage, assist and prosecute careful, thorough research work.

ALBERT M. DAY, President.

THE SPRAGUE HOME FOR NURSES.
This Building Was Given to the Presbyterian Hospital by Nancy, the Widow of
ALBERT ARNOLD SPRAGUE,
And by Friends of
OTHO SYLVESTER ARNOLD SPRAGUE,

As a Memorial to two lives which were unusually and beautifully close. Deeply interested in the alleviation of human suffering, these brothers, by their generosity, greatly strengthened the work of the Hospital in caring for the sick, investigating the causes of disease and establishing the methods of its prevention.

Subsequent to the close of our fiscal year, but prior to the publication of this report, the hospital received from Mrs. Albert A. Sprague a gift of one hundred and ten thousand dollars. The purpose of this splendid gift was to liquidate the mortgage on the Nurses' Home, and this has been done. The building will be called the Sprague Home for Nurses.

THE TWELFTH ANNUAL REPORT OF THE School for Nurses OF THE PRESBYTERIAN HOSPITAL

Mr. President and Members of the Board of Managers:

Again a busy year, the twelfth of the school, has been completed, and once more, in its daily life, it has drawn fully upon all its resources. An average enrollment of one hundred and thirty-eight student nurses (one hundred and nine accepted pupils and twenty-nine probationers), with the customary expectations of the student, and, ever in the background, the anxious trust of the parent, has busily occupied the twenty-three graduate nurse and domestic science teachers, supervisors and head nurses, who form the nursing faculty of the school, and who, with the hundred and thirty-eight students, make a total of one hundred and sixty-one in residence.

That the enrollment promises to continue large is indicated by the increased number of qualified applications received since the completion of the new home, by the fact that the class entered in March is the largest spring class ever accepted, and that there are already enlisted a fair percentage for the fall 1915 and 1916 classes.

The change adopted by the Board in 1912, reducing the pupil's training to a three-year term, is just beginning to be felt, and the first shortened-term class will be graduated in 1915. To assure that this change be not detrimental to the nursing service of the hospital, graduate nurse instructors have recently been placed in several of the departments, with the object of improving teaching methods, and of securing better nursing for the patients, and although still in an experimental stage, it is believed to be a progressive step.

Several changes have occurred in the staff during the year. Miss Benedict, dietitian for ten years, left to take up post-graduate study; Miss Johnson, five years assistant superintendent of nurses, and Miss Foerster, head of the outdoor obstetrical department, with two others of our graduates, responded to a call from the American Red Cross organization, and are on duty in Russia. These vacancies have been filled by Miss Ethel Clark, graduate of the University of Illinois; Miss Harriet Forrest, a member of the staff since 1909, succeeding Miss Johnson, and Miss Zelia Cooper, one of our own graduates, taking charge of the district obstetrical work.

Twenty-five nurses were graduated in 1914, making (to April 1, 1915) a total of one hundred and ninety-three to be granted diplomas by the school. Of these, seventy-seven are private duty nurses; thirty-two hold institutional positions, and fourteen are engaged in some form of social work.

The scheduled course of theoretical instruction, has been carried out with the assistance of the members of the hospital and college staff, and we are much indebted to these gentlemen, some of whom have, year after year, given considerable time to teaching our pupils.

While indispensable and important, the education of the pupil nurse is naturally only one function of a nurses' school, another and more exacting being the nursing care of the hospital, with all that it involves. During the past year the nursing of the Presbyterian Hospital, in all its departments, and the Rush Medical clinics, have required a permanent staff of sixteen graduate nurses, two domestic science instructors, eighty-eight accepted and twenty-nine preliminary pupils, a total of one hundred and thirty-five. The Central Free Dispensary has called for an average of four nurses; the Out-Door Obstetrical Service, two; the Social Service, one; Durand Contagious Hospital, one. These, with an average of one on special duty, thirteen ill, away or off duty for various causes, and, in the home, one domestic science graduate, one nurse in charge of the sick, and one instructor—with the Superintendent of the School —account for the occupation of the one hundred and sixty-one residents.

Five hundred and eighty-six days of nursing were given by our pupils to the Durand Contagious Hospital—an optional course provided for members of the senior class wishing that training. Another optional course open to interested seniors is in the Social Service department, where, under the valued direction of Miss Breeze, these pupils obtain a glimpse into social welfare work. Two hundred and ninety-four days' service by the pupils were given to the department—a willing contribution by the school to its support.

On account of the continued growth of the Central Free Dispensary, it has been found necessary to add a fourth nurse to that staff, the increase making a total service of fourteen hundred and nine days.

Pupils have accomplished four hundred and eighty-five days' special duty nursing in the hospital, and graduate nurses sixteen thousand five hundred and fourteen, there being a daily average of forty-six graduate nurses employed on special duty.

The number of calls made in the Out-Door Obstetrical Service, by Miss Cooper and the pupils under her direction during the year, were two thousand two hundred and forty-five, some of these representing several hours of the nurses' time.

Each year the just claims upon the school seem to increase, and during the past year the introduction into the hospital wards of more scientific instruction for the senior medical students, has undoubtedly added to the work of the nurses, and has necessitated a larger number to accomplish the work in those wards, while our own efforts to adopt improved teaching methods have also somewhat hampered rapid accomplishment.

The Woman's Auxiliary Board has again been most helpful and interested.

The additional microscope which this Board contributed is a much valued possession, and the articulated skeleton, secured by Miss Drake, being long needed, is thoroughly appreciated, and we feel grateful to Miss Drake and her committee and to the other ladies of the Board for their successful efforts to meet our requests.

The still unfilled need of the school is endowment. As, outside the resident nursing staff, all teaching for our pupils is contributed, either by the Rush Medical College or by the individual, we are really in a position of dependence and of more or less instability; and while the teaching has been generously and graciously given, that hardly warrants continued giving on one side and unending demand on the other. Endowment would allow a certain amount to be devoted to instructors for routine class work, and while it would not relieve the medical staff from lecturing, it would spare them considerable drudgery, which would be taken up by qualified teachers, financially unable to give their time but open to remunerative work.

Once again we return thanks to all the friends of the school; to those who have aided in our pupils' instruction or who have cared for them during illness; to the school physicians, Dr. Herrick, Dr. Irons and Dr. Nuzum; to the donors of the school and all who have given pleasure and recreation to our nurses; to the officers of the Hospital, Mr. Bacon and his assistants, Mr. Grey and the internes.

To the President and Board of Managers, for all that has been done for the benefit and comfort of our household, we express most grateful appreciation.

Respectfully submitted,

M. H. McMILLAN,

Superintendent of Nurses.

THE REPORT OF THE SECRETARY FOR THE YEAR ENDING MARCH 31, 1915

Since the last annual meeting April 8, 1914, the Woman's Auxiliary Board has held meetings each month, with the exception of July, August and September.

The Executive Committee has also held nine regular meetings. There have been thirty new members added to the roll and seven resignations. The Board has lost five of its members by death, Miss Elizabeth Willing of the Second Church, Mrs. A. C. Cotton and Mrs. John M. Dodson of the Additional Active Members, Mrs. Belle Heroy of the old Fifty-second Avenue, now Trinity Presbyterian, and Mrs. Brice Miller, for many years an active member and later on the honorary list.

Omitting the month of February, with sixty members present, the average attendance has been eighty-three. The present enrollment is two hundred and thirty-nine (239), including nineteen honorary members. There are forty-six churches represented, of which forty-four are Presbyterian and two are Congregational.

MRS. PERKINS B. BASS, Secretary.

One thousand eight hundred calls have been made by three members of the committee. We know that untold benefit has come from these visits, though the language of the heart refuses to be repeated. "It's hard to spread on paper the warm words that get chilled in the tub of ink and belie themselves."

MRS. JANET SMALL, Chairman.

ENTERTAINMENT COMMITTEE

Besides the usual entertainment on Christmas Eve twelve Saturday afternoons have been made happy with entertainments given by the Amateur Musical Club, Junior League, students of the McCormick Seminary, Buena Park Church, Congregational and Presbyterian churches of Hinsdale, Central Park Church, Eighth Presbyterian Church.
